Elevating Girls Education in Niger

The educational situation of girls in Kollo mirrors the educational situation for girls across Niger. There is a significant need to invest in high-quality, female-focused education in order to increase educational access and reduce the school dropout rate. Building a girls school in Kollo will provide the community with the opportunity to highlight and elevate educating girls. Additionally, Kollo is approximately an hour from Niamey and its proximity presents an opportunity to capitalize on slightly higher incomes in the region where some families will be able to pay school fees for their daughters to help subsidize scholarship students and ultimately contribute to the sustainability of the school.

Objective
The Remember Niger Coalition (Remember Niger) seeks $82,000 for the construction of a three-classroom school building, a security wall, and 4 latrines. The all-girls school will begin with preschool and kindergarten classes.

Overview
Remember Niger plans to construct a three-classroom building with latrines and a security wall to establish an all-girls school in Kollo. We will partner with the Hosanna Institute, a Nigerian nonprofit organization with 20 years of experience successfully implementing projects in Niger. Remember Niger partnered with Hosanna in 2018 to establish the School of Hope for children with the disabilities.

The Kollo Girls School will start with an inaugural class of 30 preschool and kindergarten students in 2021 and will add one grade level each year as those students advance. The school will grow by 30-40 students per year and at capacity (preschool through high school) will serve approximately 350 female students per year.

Vision & Impact

The Kollo Girls School is an expansion of the Remember Niger Coalition Girls Education Initiative, which began with the Hamsa Girls School in 2018. There are too many Nigerian girls who are either left out of the education system or leave school early. Only 39% of girls in Niger attend primary school and 9% go on to secondary school. These low rates are correlated with the high rates of early marriage. Over 2/3 of Nigerian girls are married before the age of 18 and 1/3 of girls are married by the age of 15.

Remember Niger is addressing these statistics through education. The success of the Hamsa Girls School and testimonies of girls like Binta have inspired us to continue expanding educational opportunities for girls. Binta was at the top of her class by the end of the 2019-2020 school year, which is remarkable considering her past educational experience. Before attending the Hamsa Girls School, Binta had failed the national standardized exam twice. In 2019, she was given a scholarship to attend 7th grade at HGEH. She excelled with the help of a remediation course, and her mother could not be prouder of her. When asked about the key to her success, Binta responded, "I am much more confident in a smaller class and only with girls. I am comfortable asking questions when I don't understand." Binta would like to continue her studies through medical school so she can fulfill her dream of becoming a doctor.
